

Combating Cybercrime in China

Cyberattacks at a Daily Basis

Cyber attacks do not only take place in the virtual world. They are always carried out by specific individuals or groups in physical buildings with specific expertise and IT tools. As a result, they can basically be completely or at least partially identified through on-site investigations. Via undercover investigations, many Chinese hackers, local hotspots, hacking tools or methods can be researched, which serves as starting points for deeper investigations. The results are the basis for legal prosecution by Chinese lawyers or authorities.

CHINABRAND CONSULTING has been supporting German companies and their external patent attorneys and lawyers with great success in the investigation and prosecution of white-collar crime in China and Asia for 17 years. We cooperate with reliable and specialised Chinese and Asian investigators who have extensive experience.

FAST FACTS

Increasing Harmfulness

The modus operandi of hackers in China has changed radically in recent years: while they used to target only small local networks and mainly Chinese companies, they are now active in organised gangs targeting international organisations and companies. According to statistics, Chinese cybercrime is growing up to 30% per year and is currently worth 15 trillion dollars.
